New web conferences for Autumn 2011

A-level (AS/A2) Design & Technology: Food Technology

These web conferences will enable you to gain a better understanding of A-level Design and Technology: Food Technology in the light of the units examined in summer 2011.

Our web conferences are online interactive sessions where you can

- key in questions for presenters
- participate in typed 'chat' sessions
- take part in polling activities

This web-conference is subject and component-specific and complements the CPD events on A-level Design and Technology: Food Technology.

The presenter will focus on:

- providing feedback on the units examined in summer 2011
- using live candidate materials to highlight common pitfalls as well as good practice
- giving you confidence in understanding the assessment criteria
- the desirability of combining theory and practical work
- offering strategies and ideas for improving student performance.
