

Resources and support for GCSE Mathematics in 2010

Over 40 reasons to choose AQA

We've devised a complete support package that's tailored to suit your needs and the interests and abilities of your students.

You can choose to:

- receive step by step guidance and support
- dip in to our resources as you wish
- add AQA resources to your existing resources
- tailor AQA resources to suit your own needs and those of your students.

We'll save you time and help you get the best results for your students.

Using knowledge and experience from our Maths pilots, along with extensive research, we're developing a tried and tested package of support and resources. So you can be confident that we'll provide all the information you need to save you time in adapting to the new maths specification and give you more time to spend on teaching maths.

Don't miss out on any of AQA's free resources and support. Register now to be kept up to date with developments at 2010ready.aqa.org.uk/maths

Have a look at the resources already available for the AQA Maths pilots, including:

- Past question papers and mark schemes
- Specimen question papers and mark schemes
- Problem-Solving questions
- Functional Skills Teachers' Guide
- Functional Skills Tasks
- Pilot GCSE Additional Maths Teachers' Guide

All available at aqa.org.uk/mathszone

Did you know...?

In March 2009 an Ofqual report stated that AQA offers the best customer service of all awarding bodies

AQA resources for the new GCSE Maths specification in 2010 include:

- clear specification
- straightforward specimen question papers and mark schemes
- Enhanced Results Analysis – a free online tool that provides an instant breakdown of exam results at the click of a mouse. With clear and simple snapshots, Enhanced Results Analysis provides information on how your school, class and individual students performed. On results day you can analyse students' performance, address areas for improvement and set targets for next year
- Ask AQA – your fast and efficient online Maths Adviser. Ask AQA is an intelligent question and answer bank where you can find answers to your questions and submit your own question for a personal answer, and it's available 24/7
- guidance on entering Foundation or Higher tiers
- interactive online resource bank: an interactive resource providing schemes of work, lesson plans, practice questions, homework tasks, demonstrations and tests. Register for e-mail updates at 2010ready.aqa.org.uk/maths to receive more information about this exciting new development
- printed resource bank: including specimen question papers, mark schemes, practice questions, resources list to help reuse your existing resources and save you time and money
- and much more in development.

AQA support for the new GCSE Maths specification in 2010 includes:

- free events:
 - Maths 2010 Ready Conferences in October 2009
 - Launch meetings from November 2009. Including an introduction to the new GCSE Maths specification and assessments, advice and guidance on preparing for the changes, and tips for success from the Maths pilots
 - Preparing to teach meetings. Practical solutions for preparing and delivery, that will enable you to make changes to your teaching and make sure your students get the best results.
- ongoing Continuing Professional Development (CPD) – in-depth training to support you throughout your teaching career
- Maths Advisers – AQA's team of maths specialists will support you with personalised advice and guidance whenever you need it
- a dedicated Maths website to help you get 2010 ready for Maths 2010ready.aqa.org.uk/maths
- over the next few months new resources will be added to the AQA Maths Resource Zone – your one stop shop for all Maths resources aqa.org.uk/mathszone
- direct contact with your AQA Maths subject team, Curriculum Advisers, Teacher Support Managers and Maths Advisers... no call centres
 - E-mail mathematicsgcse@aqaa.org.uk
 - Phone 0161 957 3852
- free, regular e-mail updates from Andrew Taylor, AQA's Head of GCSE Maths. Register for your e-mail updates at 2010ready.aqa.org.uk/maths
- AQA is supporting mathsbigchanges.com a website dedicated to ensuring that all Maths teachers are aware of the changes to GCSE Mathematics.

Publisher Nelson Thornes is supporting AQA's new GCSE Mathematics with a complete package of textbooks and electronic resources.

- Foundation tier student textbooks
- Higher tier student textbooks
- Teacher books
- Revision guides
- Online teaching, learning and assessment materials

For more information visit

nelsonthornes.com/aqagcse/Mathematics